Blues legend, Hodgson, to play Music in Amphitheater

April 28, 2016—Blues legend, Mark Hodgson, will play one of his final concert performances from 7-9 p.m., May 14, in the Deltona Amphitheater, 2150 Eustace Ave. Guests will have the opportunity to hear Hodgson and special guests Dan Walters and Joe Berardi.

If you love the Blues, don't miss Mark Hodgson. Born in Detroit, Hodgson actually grew up in Daytona Beach. One day at a friend's house, while his buddies were surfing, the youngster noticed a harmonica lying on the kitchen counter. He went over and picked it up. He blew into it and from then on he was hooked. The friend gave the "harp" to him. From that point on, Hodgson devoured everything he could find on the subject of the Blues. To hear him perform is truly an experience.

This concert will feature Hodgson on the guitar and "harp," Berardi on the drums and Walters on keyboard. Berardi is flying in from Los Angeles, Calif. He and Hodgson have been performing together since high school. Walters and Hodgson have been in many bands together over the years and still perform on the weekends at The Garlic, New Smyrna Beach. This concert will feature music from Hodgson's latest CD which will also be available for purchase at the concert.

Admission to the Music in the Amphitheater series is always free. Food trucks—Jake's BBQ, Ritter's Ice Cream, Saigon Sizzle, Parvathy's Kitchen, On-Site Catering and Los Munchies will begin serving food at 6 p.m. No outside food and drink is permitted.
